Niche Warehouse Newsletter

February 24th 2008 - Issue 4.

At Vivid Lamp and the Niche Warehouse, we've done a great deal of new things.

We have tried to provide each of you the opportunity to take our free trial to our Basic Package. Thank you to those who have participated and provided us with helpful and very constructive feedback. As a result we have redesigned our free search page.

The free trial is still available, all you need to do is register to the niche warehouse and you will have free access to more long tail keywords, our library of articles, newsletters, videos and other tools.

You may have also noticed that we have added a lot of new content to our blog section on Vivid Lamp's home page. We will certainly endeavour to continue to add more new blogs. We really hope that the information we have posted so far has been useful and have helped you in some way.

Enjoy!

A Tip for You!

To find out what people are searching for you can use 'Google Suggest'. If you enter the words "What is" a drop down box will display the most common terms searched for that start with "What is".
